From the age of 6, when I started attending school, my notebooks was filled with icons instead paying attention of what the teacher had to say i was drawing. However, as a visual designer my journey began in 2011 without any education in graphic design.

From 2011 and 2013, I participated in various design contests, including logo design, web design, and mobile application contests. During this period, I significantly improved my design skills and communication abilities with clients

From 2014 and 2015, I worked as a UI/UX designer at Luckymobile (<https://www.luckymobile.ca>), where I was responsible for creating two apps: Voicy and Shotout. However, despite my efforts, the company had financial difficulties, and unfortunately, the apps did not achieve success. Subsequently, they provided me with a recommendation to another company called 'BioRugged.'

From 2016 to 2020, I worked at Biorugged (www.biorugged.com) as a UI/UX and print designer. My responsibilities included creating websites, infographics, banners, flyers, business presentations, and various other design materials. In this period I gained valuable experience in collaborating effectively within a team and delivering high-quality work under tight deadlines.

However, due to organizational issues within the company and the stress caused by those deadlines, I made the decision to return to freelancing

Since 2022, I have been working on my Instagram page, where I attract clients from small businesses based in the USA. In order to get clients I learn a lot about marketing, I created 3 pages where I got a lot of followers the one page is my personal (https://www.instagram.com/niko_dola/?hl=en) the other two are graphic inspiration pages. (<https://www.instagram.com/logoprofessionals/>) (<https://br.pinterest.com/Dailygrafix/>) But due to my unstable income I don't see myself working as a freelancer and having problems running an agency due to my low leadership skills
