Profile

Hello, my name is Ivan Stojanovikj I am a junior front-end developer who is professional in the flow of work and enjoys in building projects and also detail-oriented and hyping about every single change, even if it is changing color to an h1 tag, literally! currently working as a medical biller in a global leading company in its field. I'm passionate about web development and I'm skilled in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and react. I'm now looking for a junior dev position as I learned how to code by myself, which will allow me to develop my skillset further. I am an optimistic person and love to face new challenges.
